At its third and most recent summit on February 6th, State Rep. Minority Whip Debra Maggot talked about the importance of the 2010 elections for redistricting. Also during the meeting, Charles Williamson, an area businessman, announced his plan to run for the 51st State House District. Currently, Davidson County is represented by only one Republican in the House, Rep. Beth Harwell—and Sen. Jack Johnson in the Senate.

"Our purpose in holding these summits is to strategize, unify and organize party members," said Chairman Kathleen Starnes. We want to energize our Davidson County base, help them be informed on various issues and most of all, we want to win in 2010.

"We have more summits coming up in February; one in Madison on the 20th and one in Donelson on the 27th. Both of these will be held at local restaurants and are being coordinated by people who want to facilitate action in their areas. We're also having a Grassroots Gathering on March 6, 10 a.m., with Rep. Beth Harwell at the Green Hills Library. Anyone who wants to hold a summit in their area can contact us (info@DavidsonCountyGOP.org) and we can help them pull together speakers and announcements."
